Mathy,

Attached are the EJSCREEN reports for areas along the Animas River. Instead of only pulling reports from areas near the mine which have a very small populations, we pulled reports for important locations. So there are reports for five sites along the river:

- [] The river immediately south of the spill site
- [] The river near Silverton, CO where it becomes the Animas River
- [] Durango, CO
- [] The Ute Reservation
- [] Farmington, NM where it becomes the San Juan River

Let me know if you need anything else on this or need clarification on anything. I should add that Tai pulled these maps together, so thanks again for allowing him to come over to OEJ he is a great resource.

Blessings,
